SECTIONALISM.

WASHINGTON, Feb. 27.—The Demo-cratic caucus today had rather a warm time One of the Senators said con-cessions had been made in the tariff gets their gunz and enforce their rights at the point of the bayonet, as others had done.

The caucus decided to put machinery

When the roll of States was called in the caucus Senator White of Cali-fornia, the Alabama Senators and Senafor Gorman reserved their speeches till tomorrow, when it is expected they will close the general debate. The programme then is that the bill will be cone over by schedules and the committee instructed by the suggestion or votes of the caucus as to what changes shall be made. That was the understanding when the caucus adjourned this evening, though it may be upset and some new programme be sprung before the closing speeches.

The sentiment of members indicated a disposition to allow a revenue duty on sugar, but nothing in the way of dis-crimination or protection for the refined article. There was talk for coal and fron and for lead by various Senators, but very little could be shown as to how the Senators viewed these matters. Eastern Senators opposed the income tax strenuously, but the impression is that there will not even be a demand for a vote on the proposition to strike it out. The fight for coal is led by the West Virginia Senators. Senator White of California is quite well satisfied with of California is quite well satisfied with the bill as prepared by the committee, the fruit and wine schedules being as good as he could expect.

The members of the Finance Commit-tee feel that they can at any time se-cure a majority of the caucus, but they say they do not wish to resort to harsh measures in their desire to pre-sent a bill which will be sure of the solid party support and prevent the airing of party differences in the open Senate. They will not resort to this test for the present.

HE WOULD COIN.

A Member from Southern California Voices SAN FRANCISCO, Feb. 27.—(Special Dispatch.) The Chronicle special from Washington says Congressman Bowers spoke today on the Bland bill. A portion of his remarks was as follows:

"I know that four-fiths, and I believe that pient-supply of the people of that nine-tenths of the people of the Seventh Congress District of California favor the free coinage of silver, and its more extensive use, and I propose to represent that majority to the best of my ability. Personally, I am a firm believer in the expediency, in the justness and necessity for coinage of silver by this nation. The thought of party expediency has not swerved me. I have no new party to build up, and I think the Republican party will not be affected much by my vote either way; and as for the Democratic party, I do not care which way it staggers or which way it falls. The duty I owe to those who sent me here is the only thing that controls me in this matter. 'Now, Mr. Chairman, it seems to be the fashion for certain enthusiastic members to insinuate that members who dider from them upon this question are traitors to their party, false to all pledges, and common enemies to the country. All such talk is silly boy talk. No, I will take that back, for it would be a libel upon the average boy to characterize it as boy talk. Mr. Chairman, there are, according to the roll-call of this House, 125 Republicans. eleven Populists and 214 Democrats Your Democratic friends have a ma fority over both Republicans and Pop of seventy-eight "But as the Populists are about as steady and reliable Democratic voters as we have in the House, there is a substantial Democratic majority of close on to ninety votes. In view of this fact, how silly appears this daily windmill attack upon the Republican minority and the denunciation of it for filibustering and delaying public business. What a spectacle this great Democratic party, with its overwhelm-ing majority, piesents to the country today! It cannot do business because the gentleman from Maine and the little Republican minority here will no tel tit! That is what you are whining about. That is the burden of your daily wail. Are not you ashamed of yourselves? You ought to be, and I believe every right-thinking Democra-in the land is ashamed for you

(Laughter.) "Talk about fooling people, every man in the United States that can read and write and is capable of forming an opinion knows that you could pass this bill in twenty-four hours if you wanted to, and the Republican minority could not prevent you." (Applause on the Republican side.) "I say to the Demo-cratic projective, how the force of the eratic majority here in favor of this cratic majority here in favor of this bill, you can can pass it in twenty-four hours if you want to. It does not pass because you do not want it to pass, or because the majority in the House is opposed to passage. Your purpose is accomplished, it would seem, when you have made your annual show. I can-not help thinking that if the sliver question was once settled the political capital of several gentlemen would discapital of several gentlemen would dis

'Mr. Chairman, it does not lie grac fully in the mouth of the gentleman from Missouri to charge others with filibustering. (Laughter.) As for my-self, so long as the present rules obtain, it is my right to use every resource under them to defeat any legislation I am opposed to, and I shall exercise that right to the best of my ability. It is the only check upon the majority, but it can't prevent the majority from having its way in any and all cases or from having it quickly. Filibuster-ing is the only right the minority here have or can have. The trouble with you, gentlemen on the other side, is that you swore the horse was sixteen feet high. You know now that he was only sixteen hands high but you are proud; you will not own up, and so you stagger along like a nice old party that has been out all night and still swear the horse was sixteen feet high.

"Mr. Chairman, the daily papers are now very entertaining, filled as they are with unique propositions to obtain a quorum. The brightest idea of all is the proposition to have one member rise up like a boy in school and tell on his mates and say: 'Please, Mr. Speaker, Jimmy Brown is here; I saw him, and I see him now, and he did not answer when you called his name,' and then Jimmy Brown is to be counted to make a quorum. (Laughter.) That is a grand, splendid idea, worthy to be born in a great head. It is intended to the property of the "Mr. Chairman, the daily papers are rooms 50c, 75c, 11 per day; low rates by week or month. P. S. CONDON, mgr.

"Another proposition that ought to commend itself to Democratic understanding is the proposition to fine members for not voting. I suppose, of course, that fining, like arresting, is to be confined exclusively to Republican members. (Laughter.) One word about the whip of the Czar; it does not seem to have fallen on the backs of the Republican minority, but rather upon those of the Democratic majority, as all wallings come from that quarter. The Republican minority is standing the infliction with great composure, and I desire most respectfully to suggest to the gentlemen who are making these charges about the whip of the Czar that if they could find some way to remove the hand of the man from Buffalo, which now lies so heavy upor the Democratic side of this House, they would not need to worrry about the whip of the Czar.

"But, Mr. Chairman, the normal ap petite of the average Democrat for ple seems so enormous, and, as the gentle-man from Buffalo has all the ple, I am afraid the hand will not be reand the plaints of this great, if inhar-monious, Democracy will still be heard lamenting the perversity of this Republican minority which prevents the truly good from legislating for the benefit of the people, Mr. Chairman, whatever may be the divisions among this majority, however much they may indulge in scolding each other, upon one point they are united and harmonious, that is that if it were not for Tom Reed and his pestiferous Républican minthe 'Democratic majority pass that resolution with more or less noise there comes floating across the aisle the thin, small voice of that faith-ful band of Populists, which form the Democratic annex, saying: "my sentiments, too.' (Laughter.) 'Them's tlemen, if you want to pass this bill why in the name of common sense don't you do it? If you don't want to pass it, say so and let us go on with busi-

"Several Republicans have been up as winding in and out, but there has been total obliviousness of such pro eedings on the part of the Democrats I suppose because they are the seed of Abraham. Now, gentlemen on the other side, don't waste any more time scolding the Republicans. If, with your large majority, you cannot do business you had better give place to a majority that can." (Applause on the Republican side.)

RAILROAD CASES.

Resolution to Investigate the Action of Certain United States Judges. WASHINGTON, Feb. 27.—A resolution was presented in the House this afternoon by Mr. Somers of Wisconsin sued injunctions in railroad cases, the most prominent among them: being Justice Brewer of the Supreme Court. They include also United States Judge of Taft and Bicks of Ohio, Pardee of Texas, Beatty of Idaho and Dundy

The title of the resolution to investigate the action of Justice Brewer is: 'To Investigate Circumstances Attending the Decision in Cases of the United states vs. Kane in the United States Circuit Court for the District of Colrado." The resolution specifies that report shall be made to the House whether Judge Brewer exceeded his jurisdiction, abused the powers or process of the said court, or oppressively exercised the same or used his office as judge to intimidate or wrongfully restrain the employees of any railroad or the officers of any labor organiza

Other investigations requested are or the action of Judge Taft of the Circuit Court for the Northern District of Ohio in issuing injunctions in the case of the Toledo, Ann Arbor and North Michigan Railroad vs. the Pennsylvania Company; the action of Judge Dundy of the District of Nebraska in the case Union Pacific Railroad on January 27. 1894; the action of Judge Beatty in the case of the Coeur d'Alene Mining Com-pary against the Miners' Union at Wardner, Idaho, July 11, 1892; the action of Judge Pardee of the Circuit Court for the Northern District of Texas in April, 1886, in the matter of Higgins et al., and that of Judge Augustus Ricks of Onio in the Ahn Arbor

These cases all involve the rights of laboring men to strike, and the decisions which are called in question extend over a term of years.

Gladstone's Eve Takes Him Out

Midlothian. The Criticism of His Fight on the Lords As Given as a Cause—What the Great English Journals Have

By Telegraph from the Associated Press. LONDON, Feb. 27. - (By Atlantic Cable.) The Evening News of Edinburgh has announced, on what it calls reliable authority, that Mr. Gladston has resigned as Premier but will retain place in the Cabinet and continue represent Midlothian. Though many contradict the rumors regarding the intention of the great statesman, they meet wide belief in well-informed circles and have caused the greatest excitement and hurried exchange of telegrams between the leaders and intimate advisors.

resignation is not counted on so much is that he is expected to take such action within the present week. The easons assigned are that a cataract s forming in one eye, which must soon be operated on, and the criticism of Liberal papers on him for not forcing the fight on the House of Lords. To Associated Press representative Gladstone's private secretary would not deny the truth of the published rumor, restricting himself to the statement that it was unauthorized.

The Evening News this afternoon says the Premiership has been tendered Lord Roseberry, who declined it. Later it was offered to Earl Spencer, First Lord of the Admiralty, who accepted .- It adds that Mr. Gladstone's resignation goes into effect at Easter. In an interview today Chairman Cowan of the Midlothian Liberal Association stated Gladstone said that he would take the earliest opportunity for resigning. The Chronicle says the retirement of Gladstone is imminent. It is almost an open secret that his eyesight is no open secret that his eyesight is no longer equal even to the least important duties of a political leader. All stories of dissention and disappointment at legislation being balked may be dis-missed as unaffecting his decision. When Gladstone resigns the wand it will be because the hand can no longer wield it, and for no other reason. It is probable that no decision has yet been reached as to the moment of resignation. It is announced that Sexton, M. P. for Kerry, has already taken steps to obtain pledges with regard to home rule in the event of Coseberry or Earl

Spencer becoming Premier.

The Daily News says Gladstone has taken no step in the direction of resigning. Earl Roseberry's visit to the Queen had no relation to the current political rumors. The Standard believes that Mr. Gladstone's sight is growing much worse, and that an operation will soon be necessary. Recognizing this fact Mr. Gladstone informed his colleagues that his early retirement was inevitable, but he hoped it would be only temporary. He told them he would resume the Premiership should his eyes become strong enough to warrant it.

The Times thinks the denial of Mr.
Gladstone's actual resignation may be accepted with question by those unable to adopt the inference that the alarm in the Radical camp was altogether causeless, but it can hardly be doubted that the semi-official denial signifies a postponement of the crisis. Lord Roseberry's leadership would be more satis-factory to the country generally than that of any other Gladstonian.

A Jovial Lieutenant Relates an Incident in WASHINGTON, Feb. 27.—There is de-cidedly no more racy chapter in the Lieut. Young's description of the scene is picturesque in the extreme. He said: "I was shown to a seat assigned me in the legislative hall, a little to the left and in front of the rostrum where the speaker used to sit, and which the Queen used when she read her proclamation. I believe it was about the funniest affair I ever saw in my life—a regular circus. The Queen looked at me rather savagely, and did not return my salutation with any cordiality at all.

"I noticed that she acted in a peculiar way. At first, when she was reading her proclamation, I thought that me had a little stage fright, but, in the reception-room. I saw that she was under the influence of a stimulant, in fact, drunk. There was no election in my mind about it at all."

By Telegraph from the Associated Press

NEW YORK, Feb. 27 .- The court of inquiry ordered to investigate the wreck of the Kearsarge reconvened in the court-martial room of the Brooklyn navy-yard today. There was one extraordinary scene to mark to-day's proceedings. Capt. Heyer-man broke down while telling the man broke down while telling the story of the wreck and the courtroom was cleared until he could control his embesses.

The first witness was Rear-Admiral Stanton, who told in detail the story of the Kearsarge's voyage from the time she sailed from Port Au Prince until she struck on Roncador Reef. Then Capt. Heyerman was called.

until she struck on Roncador Reef. Then Capt. Heyerman was called.

After stating in reply to the judge-advocate that the reports printed in the public press were substantially correct. Commander Heyerman was asked if he had saved any of the ship's records, particularly the "rough" and "smooth" log-books.

"I made two attempts," he said "after the vessel struck to save the log-books as well as the night orderbook, knowing they would be wanted as exhibits in the investigation which I knew would follow. I was, however, only able to save my life."

Heyerman identified several charts which had been in use on board the Kearsarge. Questioned as to his confidence in the charts and instruments on board the Kearsarge the commander said: "I had no doubt as to the accuracy of the charts and instruments on board. The night sextant was a little out of gear, but the other instruments were it profect condition."

'Answering index-Advocate Kelley's questions, Heyerman said he had been in the navy since 1861, and had commanded the Yapite, Kearsarge and Pensucola. Reverting to the day of the wreck, Commander Heyerman described the condition of the weather and current for half a dozen hours previous to the Kearsarge striking on the reef. He received reports of the navigator at intervals. The latitude taken is by the ship's running. "I was sure the Kearsarge was so far to the north of Roncador Reef that I was well clear of it," said he. "I had lookouts on the topgallant yards all the afternoon, and at 5:30 o'clock sent the officer aloft to make sure no danger was in sight. The officer reported everything all right." Breakers, he said, were first reported at 6:50 o'clock. At the time Admiral Stanton, the navigator, Capt. Lyman and the officer of the day, were on deck with him.

"What was the discrepancy," asked the judge-advocate, "between the point it supposed we were from our reckoning." There was, according to the weither and the shock of striking on the reef. The commander told how the white water and the shock of striking on t reckoning." There was, according to Heyerman, an interval of only two minutes at the most between sighting the white water and the shock of striking on the reef. The commander told how the Kearsarge was abandoned after it was seen she was doomed. He also described the manner in which Seaman Anderson Robbins lost his life while trying to wade from the outer reef to the main key.

Then Heyerman gave in detail the story of the encampment on the key, and the boarding of the wreck to obtain provisions, and his unsuccessful search for the flight order-book. He gave a vivid description of camp life and of the Robinson Crusoe bill of fare served during their stay on the key. The arrival of the City of Para and the embarkation of the crew was interestingly recounted by Heyerman. While describing the exemplary conduct of the officers and crew while lying at the wharf, as well as all during the trying days on the key. Heyerman became visibly affected at the recollection of the men's apparent deep respect and loye for nim. Recalling this devotion on the part of his crew was too much for the bronzed commander and his mouth twitched at the corners and big tears welled up into his eyes. He finally had to stop, owing to his emotions. When he had recovered composure Heyerman concluded his testimony with the details of his return trip to New York.

The court then adjourned until tomorrow.

TO RAISE THE KEARSARGE. WASHINGTON, Feb. 27.-The re mains of the Kearsarge will be raised from Roncador Reef, if the House Committee on Naval Affairs has its way. Today the committee voted to report avorably the bill of Mr. Blair of New Hampshire, but was more generous than Mr. Blair proposed. While his bill would appropriate $30,000, the committee decided to raise the sum to $45,000, with the proviso that the wrecking company shail receive not more than $10,000 if the attempt is a failure. PLATONIC LOVE.

Reasons Why It is Not a Long-enduring Sentiment. (February Scribner:) Love between women and men was not invented for the entertainment of philosophers, but largely for domestic purposes, and if platonic love is to have anything better than a hazardous and unstable exist-ence, the conditions of it must be such that it may prosper without con-flict with nature's more important ends. Thus we see why platonic friend-ships between people who might marry do not endure. Such couples get mar-ried and their riendship merges into a more durable sentiment or else one of them marries someone else, and then platonic love is to have anything better ried and their riendship merges into a more durable sentiment or else one of them marries someone else, and then it lapse s.At least, it should lapse, or if it does not it not only militates aaginstp eace in the family, but it tends to keep the unmarried platonist from going about his business and finding himself a mate, according to nature's design. It is true that there are women, and young women and that, who can contrive or a time to maintain a husband and one or two simultaneous platonic intimates. But in such cases one of three things happens: Either the wife makes her husband happy and her platonic admirers miserable, or she makes her friends happy and her husband miserable. If by any chance or miracle of talent she seems to make them all happy, she makes society miserable, because it cannot see how she does it. And when society is miserable it talks, until it finally breaks up the arrangement. She is bound to fall and the reason does not lie in any up the arrangement. She is bound to fail and the reason does not lie in an defect in her, but in the fact that he defect in her, but in the fact that her purpose is contrary to the economy of anture, which has provided barely menenough to go around, and does not permit a woman who has a man of her own to monopolize othre men with impunity. Every marriageable man beside her husband that any woman absorbs involves the waste of some other woman's opportunities, and nature abhors waste with proverbial antipathy.

THE WOMEN OF EUROPE.

Spanish Said to Be the Most Beautiful, Germans the Best Educated.

The celebrated man of letters, Paolo Mantegazza, of Florence, is airing his opinions through a German newspaper on the women of Europe. He gives the palm of beauty to the Spanish women, thereby showing keen discrimination and ereient aste. His praise is not, however, wholly unmixed.

"The Spanish woman," he says, "is bewichingly geautiful. She has small hands and feet, and large eyes, like the open windows of a sunburnt marble palace. A figure full of grace and life, and long, wavy, dark hair. She is very religious, very ignorant, very jealous, sensative, idle and proud."

The English woman, he thinks, is beauty itself. "Her hair is like gold. She has heavenly eyes, apeach-like complexion, a delicately-formed nose and good teeth. She is reserved, a little hypochondrical, very active, and generally a slave to etiquette." But the French woman is "a cat and a serpent, a palm and a violet, and even when she is not pretty she is charming. She is amiable, a dreadful coquette and generally false." The women of Germany are not graceful as a race, but are strong and withstand the ravages of time. They are "blonde, blue-eyed, with white skins, and are more suited to play the part of wives and lovers. They are nalve, good-natured and industriant and mothers. They, are, on the whole, the best educated women in Europe."

The Russian woman is an Orlental type which has been prematurely transplanted to Europe "In her are combined the extraordinary charms of a savage and a highly civilized woman."

The Italian woman is fond of art, sentimental and modest, but is generally ignorant and often false. Two important points in forming the character of the women of different nations are, according to Mantegazza, the religion and the amount of freedom they enjoy. The greater the freedom allowed the more virtue.

Debt is not only an inconvenience, but a calamity—Johnson.

Human happiness has no perfect security but freedom; freedom none but virtue; virtue none but knowledge; and neither freedom, nor virtue, nor knowledge has any vigor or immortal hope, except in the principles of the Christian faith, and in the sanctions of the Christian faith, and in the sanctions of the Christian faith, and in they ought to be. Meekness excludes revenge, irritability morbid sensitiveness, but not self-defense, or a quiet and steady maintenance of rights.—Theophylact.

maintenance of rights.—Theophylact,
The common fluency of speech in many men, and most women, is owing to a scarcity of matter, and a scarcity of words; for whoever is a master of language, and hath a mind full of ideas, will be apt, in speaking, to hesitate upon the choice of both; whereas common speakers have only one set of ideas and one set of words to clothe them in, and these are always ready at the mouth. So people come faster out of a church when it is almost empty, than when a crowd is at the door.—Dean Swift.

Touching But Not True.

(Providence Journal:) A touching story was told by one of the newspaper correspondents who sent the news of the wreck of the Kearsarge to this country. It was that before the old ship was given up for lost the crew threw overboard the 11-inch Dailigren gun that sunk the Alabama. But the fact is that there was no Dahlgren on board the ship when she plowed on the Roncador Reef, and what is more, that not a single one of the guns used in the Alabama fight was then aboard the Kearsarge. The Dahlgrens were taken out of her in 1870 at Mare Island and are still there among a number of the Kearsarge. The Dahlgrens were taken out of her in 1870 at Mare Island and are still there among a number of other antiquated guns. The 32-pounders and the 30-pound rifie were landed years ago as old junk and melted up. It is a duty of the sight-seers at the New York navy-yard to pay attention to, a couple of 11-inch guns exhibited there bearing an inscription when says they were on board the Kearsarge, The writing tells the truth, the guns were on the Kearsarge, but they were rot a part of her armament at the time of the fight with the Alabama. They were popularly understood to have been there, however. The ordnance of the ships of our navy is often changed, and the Kearsarge's underwent the fate that attended the guns of nearly all the old wooden ships of the navy after the war.

How Burglar Tools are Made. Ever little while the police arrest a nan with a kit of burglars' tools in his man with a kit of burglars' tools in his possession, and one naturally wonders where they all come from. It is easy to buy a gun of any description and the most reputable citizen would not be ashamed to be seen purchasing the most wicked-looking knife ever made; but who would know where to get a slung-shot, or a jimmie, or a device fer drilling a safe, or any of the many tools used by the professional burglar in the pursuit of his calling? There probably are places in many large cities where these things are made and sold to the users, but such places are scarce. Once in a while the police find such a factory and then things go hard with the proprietors. It may seem a little strange to learn that most of the tools used in burglaries are made by mechanics who are looked upon as respectable men in the community. When a burglar wants any particular tool made he goes to a mechanic who can do the job and pays him perhaps five times what it is actually worth for making the tool and keeping still about it.

Danver in Decorations.

Every foreigner who has visited Paris has been struck by the enormous number of men wearing the rosette either of the Legion of Honor or else of some foreign decoration in the buttonhole of the lapel of their coats. Indeed, it seems to be the sole aim of the Frenchman of every class of society to become decore, and once they have attained that distinction they never dream of moving out of the house without the rosette in their buttonhole. You may imagine, therefore, the sensation created during the past few days by the aimost complete disappearance of these bits of ribbons. The cause is related by Vogue's Paris correspondent. The young Anarchist who committed the murderous onslaught on the Servián envoy, while the latter was dining at the Bouilion Duval restaurant, in the Avenue de l'Opera, explained that he had selected the diplomat as his victim simply because he happened to be the only person in the place who was wearing the red ribbon of the Legion of Honor in his buttonhole. He informed the police authorities that, on the evening before the tragedy, he had visited another restaurant, hoping to find there an aristocrat of whom "to make an example," and that, while he saw a great many well-dressed men, none of them happened to wear a decoration, hence he postponed his design. OUR NATIONAL LESSON.

Good government, we all admit, is the street necessity of every age, for national progress is impossible without it. Under a republican form of government especially, good government for the good which dominates or the for the good which the people themselves are directly responsible. We forget this often when our public servants misgovern us, and while we hold them to an account for their misdeeds we lose sight of the ominous fact that they were called by the people, by the imperative voice of the ballot, the constitutional authority of the land, to the aces which they fill at our bidding. With the addition of a large foreign element to the population of country we have been gradually losing sight, in a measure, not only of the of the ballot, but of its omnipotent power for good or ill, and have failed to bear always in mind that it is upon the ballot of the govereign citizen that we depend for the pern ce of our institutions and the wis-

At present the whole country is crying against the evils to which it is be ing subjected under Democratic rule, forgetting that this same Democratic rule is what the people themselves de-manded and unthinkingly voted to secure. With the industries of the whole country paralyzed, with great armies of the unemployed filling the land with mob violence frequently showing itself, and anarchy lifting a bolder than ever, we should bear in that the responsibility for all this rests with the people, and that we are but reaping the harvest which we republican form of government must be built upon honest votes and an intelligent appreciation of party principles if we would have it progressive and prosperous. We need a school the education of politicians where shall be held higher than party, and the good of the whole ater value than the triumph of fac tions. It will be well for the country we do away forever with that love of party which is greater than the love of country. If our present perience does nothing more than ach the masses to weigh well the inciples for which they vote it will worth all that we have suffered, and that we are yet to suffer e prosperity of the country is fully stored, for the lesson once well restored, for the lesson rned we shall be slow to repeat it.

COLORADO CRANKS.

Colorado seems to be the headquar deas. A little while ago they were proposing in Colorado to issue coinage their own, until some one suggested at this might possibly be in conflic ith the laws of the United States Now a still more extraordinary prop put forward. A di from Georgetown, Colo., states that a tition is being circulated which calls on the silver States to secede and in the Republic of Mexico. This petiis headed by the name of the

Really it is difficult to have any partice with Americans, presumably intelligent, who act in such a manner. It hight have been supposed that the placing his name at the head of such placing his name at the head of such a treasonable document as this was of foreign birth, but that is not certain. When such things are openly done by men who call themselves American citwhat are we to think or expect? than a century after the founding of republic, that whenever things do ot ro exactly to suit any particular tion that section must begin to talk about second from the Union?
It is true that Colorado has suffered severely in the decline in the price of diver, and so have the other silver tates, but is that any reason why like a petulant child, they should go off ind sulk and declare that they "wont orado and the other silver States be, as far as silver is concerned, if they belonged to Mexico? Already one of the Central American States has been to default on its debt, on account of the decline in the price of silver, and unless there is a marked improvement before long it is not robable that Mexico will be forced

The only reasonable explanation that can make of this extraordinary threat, in order to compel those who are opposed to free silver to change their tactics, for we cannot believe that signers of this petition are in ear greatest republic on earth, to join which is a republic only in name, even so, the mere circulation of a document is, to say the least, execrable taste, and is something of the originators should be heart-ashamed. At a meeting of the American Rail way Union of Des Moines, Iowa, on Sunday last General Master Workman Sovereign spoke as follows, in reference to the injunction against him by Judge Jenkins:

to the injunction against him by Judge Jenkins:

"I am going to Winona, Minn., tonight, and will speak there on Monday. Tuesday. and Wednesday. I shall be in St. Paul and Minneapolis to talk to the Northern Pacific employees, and, as sure as there is a God in heaven. I will violate that injunction of Jenkins. It is infamous, and an outrage on all workingmen. He would be a poor representative of organized labor who would not have the backbone to do what he pleased against this disgrace, and would deserve the condemnation of all honest workingmen. Who is Judge Jenkins, anyhow? Slimply a man with a soul to damn and a posterior to kick. I fear no courts. If there is a United States Marshal here let him serve his process."

while train-robbers are defying the law in California and other States, and Anarchists are seeking to overturn the fabric of society in the Old World, it seems that this boss "walking delegate" of the Knights of Labor is anxious to pose as a modern Ajax; defying the lightning—or as a mule kicking at a stone wall.

Translated into plain English, this man, who professes to be a representative of American workingmen, openly defies the laws of the country of which he is a citizen, and publicly announce his intention to insult the duly-constituted legal authorities.

We do not here discuss the merits of the act of Judge Jenkins in issuing the injunction which Sovereign defles ficient for the purposes of the present discussion to know that the mandate of a judicial tribunal was defied by a lawless demagogue.

Is this not going a little too far Are American workingmen prepared to follow Mr. Sovereign to this extreme, and openly avow themselves as in sympathy with the principles which actuate train-robbers and Anarchists, although not, perhaps, with their actions? We believe not.

The American workingman is not composed of the material that seeks to subvert society because here, in this free, enlightened country he is an integral part of that society, with all the ivileges and possibilities of its most favored members. We are convinced that this man Sovereign will find but a very slender following to his deme gogic appeals.

American workingmen-those who labor not merely with their mouths-may safely be relied on to deal with such men as Sovereign. He will go the way of Denis Kearney and others of

EXAGGERATED REPORTS

As an illustration of the way this ection is frequently misrepresented by writers to Eastern papers, the follow-ing alleged dispatch from this city, appeared in the Colorad Weekly Sun, is given:

"DIRE DISTRESS. THE PREEZING OF THE CHANGE CROP

BRINGS RUIN "LOS ANGELES, Cal., Jan. 20.—A cold snap has struck this country and the orange crop has been ruined. This calamity extends to the young stock, and millions of dollars' damage is estimated. This visitation is not only calamitous for the future, but it is having its present effect in the dire distress which the ruin of the whole orange or phase entailed."

This is another example of the damage which is done by alarmist reports sent out from this section. Correspondents who send away such "news" should be taught that they have some responsibilities. As The Times has fre-quently shown, the damage done by the recent cold snap to the orange crop was comparatively trivial, and in some sections was scarcely perceptible. The prosperity of Southern California is built on so firm a basis that it can stand much misrepresentation, but the constant requirence of such malignant reports and the avidity with which they appear to be received in the East are, to say the least, annoying.

There is continued complaint about the number of dead fish that are found the number of dead fish that are found floating about in the surf and cast up on the shore along the coast of Los Angeles county. It has been suggested that the reason was that some dynamite had been thrown into the water in this neighborhood, or that there has been a subterranean explosion near Catalina Island. If, however, it is true as stated, that fish are found in true as stated, that fish are found in which it was intended. This is not a country where buildozing succeeds, ither among the legislators or among the people. The effects of such wild avenents and talk as are being intended in in Colorado nowadays will be antagonise many people who are at antagonise many people who are at a first and the cause of the phenomenon, of the phenomenon, or that this challenges a subterranean explosion near Catalina Island. If, however, it is true as stated, that fish are found in this condition all the way from Santa-Barbara to San Diego, neither of these explanations will suffice. It might be well to have some official investigation of the phenomenon. ARIZONA AFFAIRS

Ex-Gov. Murphy of Arizona, who has been in the city for several days past with his family, was seen yesterday, and, being interviewed by a Times reporter, said:

porter, said:

"The people of the Territory are justly incignant at recent outrageous attacks upon Arizona which have appeared in prominent Eastern journals, and while I am inclined to think that the vanity of the perpetrators of the wrong has already been fed too far by conspicuous mention and that their importance has been very much overestimated and some of the statements published are so-utterly false and ridiculous as to deceive no one, vet it may lished are so-utterly false and ridiculous as to deceive no one, yet it may be well to deny explicitly some of the more extreme assertions for the information of the section of the secti more extreme assertions for the infor-mation of those who may be possibly misled. The principal object of those who are responsible for the hostile letmissed. The principal object who are responsible for the hostile letters referred to seems to be to try and defeat Arizona's chances for admission as a State. An honest difference of opinion on this subject cannot justify wholesale falsehoods as to facts, how-ever, and therefore either the motives or the intelligence of the maligners of Arizona's good name and credit are grossly at fault."

Mr. Murphy then proceeded to refute

Arizona's good name and credit are grossly at fault."

Mr. Murphy then proceeded to refute the statements in an article published in a Chicago paper on February II, which declared.

"The population of Arizona at the last census was 59,000 and it has been constantly falling off eyer since on account of silver depression, etc."

"As to this statement Mr. Murphy said: "The truth is that the census gave Arizona 59,550 people four years ago, exclusive of white men on Indian reservations and Indians untaxed, and the number has largely increased since that time.

"That the population of Arizona is steadily increasing cannot be successfully disputed. The agricultural and horticultural sections are especially filling up with desirable immigrants. In Maricopa county alone 175,000, fruit trees have been marketed within a year. All up and down the Glia and Salt rivers in Graham, Pinal, Pima and Yuma counties development is being proportionately pushed. In the mining sections also the communities are increasing along the Atlantic and Pacific Railroad in the northern counties of the Territory; coal fields and large timber regions are being opened. In the mining districts closely contiguous to Prescott, as well as in the United Verde, Harqua Hala, Superstitious Mountain, Santa Maria, Chapparal, Congress, Bradshaw, and other important mining neighborhoods unusual prosperity exists and it is altogether probable that the foatput of precious metals will be larger this year than ever before.

"The, statement that the people of Arizona do not desire Statehood is utterly unfounded and false; there is no doubt whatever, but that upwards of 90 per cent, of the people favor admission, and possibly I am a competent judge in this matter, having lived a long time in the Territory, and being intimately acquainted with its affairs.

"The constitutional convention which framed the constitution upon which the present bill for admission of the Territory before Gongress is predicated, was not composed of irresponsible citizens, as published, but was made up of our best and most representative men, although it by no means follows that the constitution adopted will be the one of the State, as it is not decided that a new convention will not be held. "In regard to the sweeping charge of corruption in Territorial affairs and bad legislation, which the Eastern writer alleges, it is possible that in a comparative degree Arizona has sufwriter alleges, it is possible that in a comparative degree Arizona has suffered on this account, which I think is true of all new Territories and States, and that we are no exception in this respect to the general rule. Arizona has to show for her indebtedness fine public buildings, including penal institutions, asylum, university, normal school and a common school system which is not excelled in America. The buildings were erected without a dollar of help from the general government. Good roads have been constructed over mountain trails, expensive bridges have been built, and highly creditable development had in all directions, for which the people of the Territory are entitled to special credit, on account of remoteness from moneyed and populous centers, lack of transportation facilities and expensive foreign material for construction purposes, which are now beling developed at home.

"The writer referred to attacks the financial status of the Territory in connection with its heavy debt and assessable property. Special pleading for a purpose can be made on almost any subject, but a conservative and fairminded writer should always be willing to present both sides of the question where any controversy exists. It has been demonstrated, over and over again, that if the property of Arizona were all assessed, and at a fair valuation, taxation would be lower than in many of the larger States; this, in view of the difficulties of developing a new and remote country, as before stated. As convincing testimony that Arizona is not in the deplorable condition reported, $2,000,000 of Territorial bonds, bearing 5 per cent. interest, have been sold at par within the past two years, after the most thorough and careful investigation by some of the ablest financial experts of the country. Instead of the value of the mining machinery being stated too high by the advocates of Statehood, in my judgment a larger sum might have with property been named. Expensive piants are located at Bisbee, Clifton, Globe, Morenci, Tombatone, Uni appreciated just now by the majority of the American people. When he recovers he will have a grand ovation. This must be quite con-soling to the author of the tariff bill. It is another case of a prophet having dinance. Kings county has not adopted prohibition, but the Supervisors have passed an ordinance providing for the closing of all saloons at 10 o'clock on week days, and all day on Sunday. week days, and an day on sunday. This is a similar ordinance to that which we have in Los Angeles. There is much more chance of enforcing such a law as this than one which calls for total prohibition throughout a county. The Council has resolved to employ another hundred men, which will be welcome news to many who are looking for work. Within a couple of months, when the decidude fruit season opens in the country, there will be plenty of work for most of the unemployed and their families.

"Neither the question of sectionalism, class legislation nor anything should deny to a free, capable and deserving people their dearest rights.

"It is posssible that I have expressed myself at too much length on this subject, notwithstanding the great provocation. Arizona and Southern California are in close sympathy, and we appreciate the assistance of such papers as The Times in correcting false impressions. The correspondent who penned the articles I have mentioned is probably not wholly to blame, and he has probably been misinformed by people whom he trusted and who may have been prejudiced by imaginary interests. Orange-growing in Los Angele County-Some of the Ploneers-Riverside-Frauds That Have Been Practiced.

LOS ANGELES, Feb. 26, 1894,-(To the Editor of The Times.) In yesterday's issue of The Times, under the heading, 'Los Angeles County Oranges," in the editorial matter, occurs the statement that "Riverside is the oldest and most extensive orange-growing county of the (The Times was referring only to the age of the Riverside section as a regular and large producer of oranges for profit; that is to say, as a business.—Ed.) Also, that "it is known that back of Moravis. that back of Monrovia and Duarte and Glendora, some of the finest orange

The finest oranges ever raised in the State, and the oranges that made the reputation for California oranges, were raised in localities outside of those mentioned in the list, and before Riverreputation for California oranges, were raised in localities outside of those mentioned in the list, and before Riverside, Duarte, etc., were ever heard of. When the men who came here to found a colony (among the number Judge North, a former Supreme Judge North, a former Supreme Judge of Nevada) who talked over the project of establishing Riverside colony at the home of the writer, the orchard of Mr. Wolfskill, in Los Angeles, the first planted in California, was already famous. From this orchard, and the experience of Mr. Wolfskill, was established the fact that oranges were at home in Los Angeles, and at this time there were two other large orchards of full-grown seedling trees, namely: Mr. Wilson's at San Gabriel and Mr. Rose's "Sunny Side." Besides there were small orchards in the other neighboring localities and many dooryards had a few trees. In the San Gabriel Valley proper, on the banks of the river, Gov. Plo Pico had old trees in bearing and also ex-Gov. Downey. It has grown to be an understood fact that all good oranges grow in Riverside. Why? Because dealers traded upon the Washington navel being the one fine orange of California. Its name "Riverside navel" gave it superior flavor because of the location of Riverside, and upon this was built the reputation of seedlings and the result was all good oranges from Santa Ana to the desert were packed in Riverside and elsewhere were shipped in boxes marked "Los Angeles," No one wants oranges raised in Los Angeles county because they are "sour." This order was first disturbed by the first Citrus Fairheld in Los Angeles, when Riverside refused to come in because of a fear that they would not be fairly treated. Why such fear, unless of the "conscience that makes cowards of us all."

Riverside has suffered just retribution for ruining the reputation of Los Angeles oranges. There is no satisfaction in this to those who have suffered. An honest policy is always best, even if adopted for no other reason than policy. There are two reasons for a positive statement i western exposure gives stored warmth that tempers cold nights. Second, while the wood is growing in summer and the fruit is making there is a cool seabreeze blowing every day. This hardens, to a certain extent, and the same frost in San Bernardino-county, or Riverside, would do harm, while the locality of the sea breeze would pass undisturbed. The truth is, however, that heavy frosts occur in Riverside's neighborhood, when there are none on these southwestern slopes. The fruit formed under almost troploal heat of the summer in the interior valleys, has no preparation for frosts. The soil is richer, also, on these slopes, and very little artificial fertilization is needed, hence stronger trees. A visitor will notice near Whittier a million nursery trees, orange, etc., brought here, in some instances, from other localities where they boast the best conditions and best fruit.

stances, from other localities where they boast the best conditions and best fruit.

Unless the business men of Southern California make it their business to do something toward markets, there will be little use to award premiums and display fruits, when boxing, transportation and commissions require every cent received. It is said that Prof. Hilgard last year estimated that a box of oranges was worth 37 cents as fertilizer to the scil. If this is so, every carload is worth to the land at least $100. The question is this: Shall there be a way to get our fruits into the hands of the people of the United States who would be glad to buy and eat if the opportunity was given them? A few cities are not the markets for the people. Towns, villages and farms must be reached, and a transportation rate that will bring the prices down to the consumer, so that all may partake of our golden fruit. In other words, the producer and consumer must be brought into closer relations, so that fruit-growing may continue on a business basis, which recognizes that the investments in fruit lands shall return a percentage of profit to the owners of such lands.

Elysian Park for the purpose of adding them to the park was indorsed.

A resolution was adopted urging that the Council, when condemning lands for park purposes, include in the proceedings the land north of Bellevue avenue; also the land necessary to extend Echo Park to Temple street.

The special committee on the extension of a street railway on Bellevue avenue was discharged, and Messrs. Bastels, Craig and Tonkin were appointed to act as such committee. The committee was requested to work to have the Capt. Cross railway come to Montano avenue, to connect there with the electric railway.

A vote of thanks was extended to The Times for publishing reports of the meetings of the association.

It was arranged that the matter of the regrading of Temple street be considered at the next meeting, and that City Attorney McFarland and the commissioners, Mayor Rowan, Street Superintendent Watson and City Engineer Dockweiler be invited to be present.

the rooms of the Concordia Club on South Main street. Secretary L. F. Vetter first read the minutes of a previous meeting after Chairman Max Meyberg had called the

that all horses be excluded from the procession on children's day, owing to the danger connected with the use of such animals.

F. W. Wood thought that it was a particularly good idea to have the National Guard boys out on children's day, as the two would make a very happy and pleasing combination. He thought that some good maneuvering should be done to add life to the occasion. If the Governor and his staff could be prevailed upon to attend a little ceremony of having the children throw flowers would be very attractive.

A. Petsch had several suggestions to offer regarding the programme for children's day. He did not believe in compelling the little ones to walk very far, but rather favored some simple, entertaining exercises to be given by them at the parks.

Frank Thomas thought that it would be a good plan to have a grand carnival day when the flesta should be brought to a close. That is a grand procession, in which the public could enter in mask, if desired, having a large supply of flowers to helghten the effect.

Mr. Wood was doubtful if the people could be wound up to a sufficient degree to make this plan a success. If they could it would undoubtedly work well and would be an attractive feature.

Mr. Thomas replied that the people of Santa Barbara had some difficulty in this respect at first, but after a year or two went by the thing came to be an established and particular ceremony and was entered into heartily by all. It was an experiment which would have to be tried before its success could be determined.

H. W. Frank arose to add his votes to the plea for united efforts and perseverance. He advocated thorough work and careful preparation.

Henry Steere did not think that the staid ladies of Los Angeles would be cuite willing to launch all at once into the flower battles on the street.

The matter was finally referred back to the committee for further thought and recommendation.

For that reason he favored the reference to the figures presented to the committee of the merchants.

Mr. Steere stated that there would be a meeting of the Parade Committee this evening, in the Armory, to perfect further details.

The members of the Committee on Music announced that they had arranged to have a grand chorus as one of the features, but beyond that, they had no report to offer.

Frank Thomas, in behalf of the Social Committee, reported that it was thought best to fix the date of the grand ball on the last day of the flesta. Hazard's Pavilion had been chosen as the only hall large enough for the purpose desired. It had not been decided whether to make the ball a full-dress affair or a carnival evening. The suggestion of the committee, how-

The suggestion of the committee, how-ever, would lean toward the former plan as the best. Mr. Thomas estimated that the cost incidental to the ball, would be about $1500, exclusive of the expense of the supper. The Southern California Committee

A general discussion ensued, after which H. W. Frank took the floor, and, in behalf of the ladies of the club, presented to Mr. Meyberg, as director-general of the flesta, a beautiful banner, appropriately inscribed and decorated in gold and purple.

Mr. Meyberg volced his thanks for the handsome token very feelingly, and then the meeting adjourned.

From the enthusiasm and interest displayed last evening it was plain that the merchanis are prepared to heartfly support the flesta project, and that they will spare no efforts to make the celebration an entire success.

COLORS IN STONES.

Henry Ward Beecher's Love for These Immutable Dyes.

When Alone-How He Would Treat His Friends to Them-Something of the Colors Found in Nature.

It was a custom of Henry Ward Beeches to carry in his pockets a number of beautifully colored stones, which he would frequently hold in his hands and fondle as though they were things of life. He would hold them to the light's rays at various angles, and admire their refulgence. Sometimes he would slip a beautiful garnet or ruby into the hand of some friend, as though it was his desire that his friend, too, should perceive and enjoy the feast of colors which he loved so much to contemplate. It was a soul sense of the great Brooklyn divine that was seeking ratification and expression through the soft colors of the stones, and we all have that sense. Who is not charmed by the beauty of the deep green of the emerald, by the delicacy of the aqua marine, by the brilliancy of a sapphire? Who does not love to gaze on the blood-red ruby and note the deep dye which the sun gives the stone? And the onal, ah, the opal! How beautiful! Those dark, round, curious stones, with a gleam of light in them that appears to follow you like a ghost track whichever way you look.

Now, there are stones and shams of stones, and when you buy stones of these kinds you should either be an expert, which few are, or you should go to a reliable house on whose word you can depend, and who will not take advantage of your ignorance in prices. You should go to the house, too, that has the largest assortupent. All this you will find at M. German's, No. 220 South Spring street. This is an opal country, you must recollect, and they are cheaper here than at most places in the world. The Mexican opal, the Montuna opal, as well as foreign opals. You will find them all at German's. Go and make your selection.

Nurseryman Cunningham Loses His Suit.

Has No Right to Maintain an Action for Damages.

Arthur Lewis is Sent to for Five Years.

Orders Made in the Probate Court by Judge -Melvin Anson on Trial for Assault to Murder-

The suit brought by Nurseryman Cunningham against Horticultural Commissioner John Scott and his assistant, Impector Mullin, has resulted favorably for the defendants, Judge Shaw having entered judgment in their favor yesterday. Cunningham puchased about 800 lemon trees at Long Beach, and had them shipped to this city. When they arrived here it was found that black scale had gained a strong hold on them, and the county officers gave the nurseryman notice that they would have to be funnigated. Cunningham was willing that Mullin should do the work, but, afterward was into astisfaed with the result. When planted on the trees "died back" considerably and several of them failed to start, out at all. Cunningham at first consented to submit the less to a committee of arbitrators, but not being content with the amount of damages they found refused to submit the less to a committee of arbitrators and brought suit to recover against Scott and Mullin.

In most of the other States it had been held that the statute in regard to arbitration was not exclusive.

In the New York case of Burnside vs. Whittaey it was said: "It has often been held that the statutes prescribing certain forms of submission to arbitrations, and allowing the parties to agree that a judgment of a court of record, designated in the submission, should be rendered upon the award, was cumulative merely, not exclusive and that an award pursuant to a submission which would have been valid at common law, but which did not conform to the statute, would support an action."

In view of this and other decisions it should be held that the award in question was valid under the common law, and therefore a bar to the action, although the arbitrators did not proceed in a manner provided by the code. Aside from this question, the defendant also claimed that he was not liable for damages because there may not sufficient proof of negligence. love for Furnald. She met him in this city early last autumn, and was captivated by his fine conversational accomplishments and Chesterfieldian manners. He was handsome, refined, gallant, and told of his high family and social connections in the East. He said his father, who lived in New Hampshire, was immensely wealthy, and that he was the sole heir to the old gentleman's fortune. In fact his mission to the West, he said, was to find some business to his liking, so that he might accept the generous offer-of-his father, who had promised to give him enough money to start.

"Day after day Furnald whispered fairy tales of this kind into the willing ears of Mrs. Garner, impressing on her mind the while that it would be a pleasure to divide his prospective fortune with one whom he loved so well. As their acquaintance progressed she became more deeply infaturated with him. Hardly an evening passed that she was not in his company, after she had finished her work at the United States Branch Mint, where she was employed. They chatted together in the pariors of the Langham Hotel, where they both resided, until the other boarders observed that their affection was rapidly approaching the paint where it would be more than platchile. Shortly afterward they removed to the Princess House, at O'Farrell and Stockton streets, where they remained until within a few days of their departure for Los Angeles.

"Mrs. Garner was in a very sorrowful frame of mind when seen yesterday in Capt. Lee's office, at the new City Hall. She at first declined to say anything shout her arrest, but afterward relented and talked quite freely." "I am perfectly sinocent of the slightest connection with the diamond robbery," she said. "A few days ago I received a letter from Los Angeles last Monday to visit my mother. I did not know that Mr. Furnald was going to Los Angeles until he entered the car which I was seated. "Mrs. Garner has letters from several of the most prominent people in Los Angeles, testifying that they have known her and her family for years, and sannot believe that she had anything to do with the robbery. One of the letters is from Sheriff Cline to Sheriff McDade, and is as follows:

"Sheriff McDade: The bearer of this. Mrs. K. C. Garner and her son, Harry E. Earle, now under arrest for robbery in your city, are members of one of our best families. Her brother, ex-County Recorder Frank Kelly, is one of my personal friends, and the general impresion here is that she has been mislead by this man, J. W. Allen. I will esteem it a personal favor if, you will do all within your official duty to make it comfortable for Mrs. Garner and her son, and also to let one of your deputies accompany her to see some of her friends for the purpose of procuring bondsmen. Yours very-respectfully.

"Mrs. Garner has retained as her atterney her old friend, Mrs. Clara-Foltz. Mrs. Foltz tried to get bail for her fair client yesterday afternoon, but, was unsuccessful, and Mrs. Garner paged the inght in a private ward at the fleceiving Hospital. Mrs. Folts expects to secure Mrs. Garner's release today.

"Why, who wouldn't fall in love with a man like Furnald? Mrs. Folts expects to secure Mrs. Garner's release today.

The report stated that the number of the place should be, and in reality is, on Main street. The place is what was some time ago known as the Pacific Garden, the saloon license for which was several months ago revoked by the board. Since that time the house had been rin under the guise of a restaurant license, and liquors had been sold there about the same as before.

On motion the application for a saloon license at that place was denied.
The Chief reported favorably on the application of F. Cazaux, for a restaurant liquor license at No. 278 South Main street, and the same was granted.
The petition of T. H. Reynolds, for a saloon license at No. 501 West Sixth street, as laid over from last week, was considered. A protest in behalf of the First Congregational Church, against the granting of the license, was presented. The protest stated that it is desired not to have a saloon so near the church.
Commissioner Weldon said he was not in favor of denying such petitions just because church people object to the granting of saloon licenses. If the board were to do so, there would be almost no end of such protests coming in. Besides, the granting of such a license means a considerable revenue for the city.

After a brief discussion, action on the application was deferred for one week.

[RAILROAD RECORD.] WAXING HOT.

The Warring Roads are Joined by Others.

The Santa Fe's Rate Applies to San Francisco.

Southern Pacific Trainmen Have More Orlevances.

Alleged Big Proposition to the South All Right-Local Notes.

No new local developments in the transcontinental rate war came to light here yesterday. The rates which will go into effect tomorrow will be low enough for a starter, but they will tumble further a little fater, General Passenger Agent Bissell of the Atlantic and Pactific, of the Santa Fe system, hints at a possible reduction to $5 for the ride between California and the Missouri River, and General Passenger Agent Goodman of the Southera Pacific says his road will remain in the fight if the rate goes down to $1. If both roads persist in their present declarations, the time is not far distant, when passengers can ride free between the points named, with sleeping-car berths. No new local developments in the passengers can ride free between the points named, with sleeping-car berths and meals thrown in. The Santa Fe being in the hands of receivers, does not have to earn more than anough to pay for train oil and wages of employees, and will maintain that advantage until the Southern Pacific clanhas a receiver or two, which will place it on an equal wan footing with its adversary. Whatever the Santa Fe gets for hauling a passenger between California and the Missouri River, or Chicago, it keeps; what the Southern california and the Missouri River, or Chicago, it keeps; what the Southern Pacific receives for like service it must divide with its Eastern connections. What these divisions are may be interesting information, for the general reader. On a one-way isicket, sold at San Francisco, for Kansas City, for instance, the Southern Pacific receives 46½ per cent. of the rate paid for it for the haul to Ogden; the roads between Ogden and Denver get 60 per cent. of the remainder, and the lines between Denver and Missouri River points are entitled to the other 40 per cent. Thus, out of a Kansas City ticket, sold at San Francisco, for $20, the cut rate, the Southern Pacific will receive $4.2 between them; the Rock Island or Burlington, whichever carries the passenger to Kansas City, will have $4.28 for the haul. If the next move in the war should cut the $20 in two there would be precious little left for the lines east of Ogden. SOUTHERN PACIFIC PEOPLE PUZZLED.

SAN FRANCISCO, Feb. 27.—The Southern Pacific people are at a loss for an explanation of the the action of Santa Fe officials in making a railroad cut both ways. "We wouldn't have objected so much if the low rate had been made applicable; only to west-bound traffic," said General Passenger Agent Goodman. The explanation, however, seems to be very easily found in the fact that a great majority of the people from the East who are at present in California are possessed of return tickets, so that the business that will be done under the new schedule will be with new Customers, people living in California, who may desire to go East. Assistant General Passenger Agent Donaldson was treated to a suprise yesterday. A business-like gentleman dropped into his office and unfolded a proposition to brind 10,000 persons out from New York State and that vicinity, provided he could get a rate that would be satisfactory. As evidence of good faith he made Mr. Donaldson a tender of a check for $10,000. His proposition is to bring 6000 people at one time and 4000 at another. The startling proportions of the proposition took away the breath of the SAN FRANCISCO, Feb. 27.-The ooo. His proposition is to bring 6000 people at one time and 4000 at another. The startling proportions of the proposition took away the breath of the Southern Pacific representative, and he took the matter under consideration. About the Southern Pacific offices nothing was to be learned aside from what is stated above.

SANTA FE TO SAN FRANCISCO.

It was stated that all of these were from parties running saloons at the places for which restaurant licenses had just been saked. As each of these had been investigated before having as San Francisco. This cut is by way of Mojave, not Los Angeles. The Atchi-son expects to make no further reduc-tion unless compelled by the Southern Pacific.

SOUTHERN PACIFIC GRIEVANCE COMMITTEE. SAN FRANCISCO, Feb. 27.—Members SAN FRANCISCO, Feb. 27.—Members of the General Grievance Committee of the entire Western system of the Southern Pacific have been in session for several days in this city. They were called here to consider several matters which are to be brought to the attention of the officials of the road. A representative from Bakersfield was taken suddenly ill Sunday, and compelled to return home. (Chicago Tribuine:) The telephone people have adopted a device which will probably arouse more 'profanity. expressed and unexpressed, than anything yet invented. Heretofore when a person called for a number that happened to be doing business, he would be told by the telephone girl: "They're busy; please call again." If he was in a great hurry the temptation was great to argue with the girl about the veracity of her statement, and he generally yielded to the temptation. The girl, being a woman, would naturally accept the challenge, and a dozen other persons might ring until their arms were tired while she argued the point. The company came to the conclusion that these discussions wasted the girls time while they falled to convince the other party. To do away with these wordy wars they have put in an arrangement technically known as a "busy back." This is nothing more than a buzzer with a loud voice and a temper excordating intonation. When a number is called for that is in use the girl, instead of saying so, as in the old days, plugs up this buzzer and the person waiting hears a noise like a coal-scuttle falling down stairs in the dead of night. When he hears this he knows that he cannot get the number he wants, and is free to say what he pleases without danger of drawing the telephone girl into a contention. One of these arrangements has been placed in the others as soon as possible.

Death of Henry Chapman Ford—Brevities of General Interest.

Prof. H. C. Ford, after a lingering illness, passed away shortly after midnight Tuesday morning. In his death Santa Barbara has sustained an irreparable loss, and the calamity to the State is little less. After the great fire at Chicago, by which Mr. Ford was bereft of studio, art collection and a large portion of his life's work, Mr. and Mrs. Ford came West, and, with a faculty rare among artists of standing and talent, Prof. Ford seized upon characteristic and picturesque features of the Golden State traits of a bygone age, and people, in danger of obliteration by the human tide from the East, with its train of alien customs and utilitarian creeds. The collection of etchings of the California missions by the hand of this artist, some twenty-six in number, executed ten years ago, will in a short time be priceless, as one by one these milestones on the road to prosperity and progress followed by out State crumble and return to the adobe from whence they were erected. It was as a landscape artist in oils that Prof. Ford excelled, and his facile brush wielded among the giant redwoods in the Yosemite, on the summit of the pine-clad among the giant redwoods in the Yosemite, on the summit of the pine-clad eawns of the San Rafael, produced work unapproachable and unmistakable. For fifteen years he was president of the horticultural society of this county and resident of the Natural History Society for a period aimost as lengthy. He was one of the few whose epitaph, however fulsome, cannot lie. His nature was as beautiful as his pursuits. Mr. Ford was a caliant soldier during the war, and many years ago was vice-president of the Chicago Academy of Design.

Meeting of the Santa Ana City Council.

Trustee Whitson Presents His Resignation An Unsuccessful Attempt to Fill a Vacancy-Notes and

SANTA ANA, Feb. 27.—(Special Correspondence.) At the adjourned meeting of the City Council last night the most important matter brought up was the election of a Trustee for the Third Ward, to fill the place of J. A. Hankey, resigned. The names of M. A. Menges and J. T. Wilson were effered and after many ballots without an election the matter was postponed until the next meeting.

In regard to granting an extension of the franchise of the Santa—ana and Newport Railroad Company the City Attorney filed an opinion and then the members of the board commenced a long-winded discussion of the matter. The only members who agreed were Whitson, Hunt and Edinger. Each one of these agreed with himself and no other. Finally it was decided to grant an extension of one month in place of the one year petitioned for.

A number of citizens have asked to have water put on lots on which no houses are built, in order to irrigate trees and flowers. This was reported to the board and the City Clerk was instructed to grant o deny such requests as he thought best.

Trustee Whitson handed in his resignation and at this moment A. C. Curtice came before the board with a petition for permission to move a house. The nice point arose as to whether there were enough members present to constitute a quorum since the resignation of Mr. Whitson had no longer a right to vote. The matter was deferred until the next meeting. In the meantime Mr. Curtice says the house will occupy its new site, Council or no Council.

Eastern Firms Cutting the Price on Oranges.
A Sad Case.

POMONA, Feb. 27.—(Special Correspondence.) The San Antonio Fruit Exchange, which practically controls the oranges of this section of the country research to have uncerthed a fact Exchange, which practically controls the oranges of this section of the country, neems to have unearthed a fact that is not particularly a pleasant one for either the exchange or the fruit companies that are engaged in selling the crops of outside parties. The exchange is in receipt of evidence that cannot be contradicted, which shows that at least some of the firms above mentioned are deliberately cutting prices, making them lower than those of the exchange, and for the simple purpose of running the orange-growers' union out of the country. Such business cannot but work ruin and desolation to the orange-industry, for the simple reason that the growers' can get no prices for their fruit, and that, means disaster to the business. Almost every day the exchanges are in receipt of quotations from buyers in the East, which show that the sellers outside the union are cutting prices, and the natural consequence is that these outside parties are selling the oranges, while the exchanges wait. The policy of the exchanges seems to be to let these parties run until they come to the end of their rope, and that (the exchange asserts) will be in a very short time, for they cannot get the fruit. Advices from the markets yesterday were encouraging to the growers, and they have full confidence that they will succeed.

As to prices received, while they are not as large as the exchanges would have full confidence that they will succeed.

As to prices received, while they are not as large as the exchanges would like to see, they are much better than last year, and the exchanges have made this matter possible. The returns for the best navel oranges pay the grower from 90 cents to $1 per box, and while that is not large, it pays very well, and is better than paying freight for the privilege of selling in distant cities. The exchange says that the growers who sell to these firms may rest assured that they are doing everything they can to ruin the industry, for, a good many outside buyers deliberately use the fruit to whip out the organization.

A SAD CASE.

City Marshal Lorbest went to Los Angeles yesterday for the purpose of taking Dr. Cragan to the County Hospital. It will be remembered by readers of The Times that the doctor got on a spree some three months ago, and fell asleep in his office. He left a coaloil stove burning, and, in some way, kicked it over. His estothing caught fire and one leg and one arm were frightully burned, so that for some time his recovery was despaired of. He has suffered untold agonies ever-since, and every time the wounds are dressed the flesh drops from his injured mem-bers. The first joints of four of his fingers have dropped off, and his leg is in a horrible condition. He has spent all he had in trying to get re-lief, but without avail, and it will be a long time before the man can attend to business, if he ever can. POMONA BREVITIES.

RIVERSIDE, Feb. 27.—(Special Correspondence.) The effort made at Moreno to condemn by res, olution in a mass-meeting of the land-owners in the Alessandro Irrigation District the action taken by six of their number, enjoining the collector from selling lands for non-payment of the irrigation tax, falled of consummation. The fax was for the purpose of raising the necessary funds to pay the interest on the bonds. A great many believe as the contract for which those bonds were issued had not been executed by the Bear Vathey Company, and the bonds were not fiven with proper security and in the proper manner, they are void and the tax cannot be raised to cover their interest. In the meeting held to take action toward the six who brought sult, a strong sentiment in favor of their conduct was very manifest, and the resolutions were voted down.

About Introductions.

(Philadelphia Times:) Gentlemen do not ask for introductions to one another, because they do not generally wish to become acquainted; or, if one wishes to do so, he very properly hesitates to force himself on the attention wishes to do so, he very properly hesitates to force himself on the attention of another person who may be unwilling to know him. Ladles do not, under ordinare circumstances, ask for introductions to one another for reasons which will be very readily understood. If one lady does ask, however, the person to whom she applies should find out; before making the introduction, whether it will be agreeable to the other lady. An exception to this rule, both for ladies and gentlermen, is found in the case where they are invited especially to meet some person. One not only has a right to such to be presented to the guest of the evening, but not to do so would often show a lack of courtesy. At a very large gathering, or where the honored guest is a person of distinction, one should not be too forward in pressing one's claims, especially if the guest be already talking with people of more importance, or with those who might be more agreeable to him. Modesty is usually a safe virtue to cultivate. Another exception to the rule is found in cases where it is evident, from the circumstances, that that the hostess has omitted the introduction, ether from forgetfulness, or because she supposes that the ladies already knew each other. In this case the lady might ask the hostess to make the introduction.

TWIN BEDSTEADS.

A Substitute for the Double Red Which is Unhygienic.

(Harper's Bazar:) Fashion has given its sanction to the use of the single bed, and large numbers of so-called "twin bedsteads" are now in the market, many of them made of costly woods rich with carving. They are so designed that when placed side by side the effect is that of one wide bedstead, whereas a separate spring-mattress and bed chothing are provided for each.

It is well known that the double bed is unhygienic, and medical journals have been condemning it for some time past, one writer claiming that injury to one or the other of two people sleeping in this way is sure to result in time. Particularly is this true with regard to the young and the aged; but by the use of the twin bed they may occupy the same room and sleep side by side without harm to either.

There is no class, perhaps, who need the refreshment and rest which comes of occupying a bed alone so much as household servants, and they are the people of all others who are condemned to the very poorest sleeping accommodations.

In city houses this is notably the case, and in one home known to the writer the five servants are obliged to sleep in one large room in the basement. In every other respect much kindness is shown them, but in order that the

Sketch of the Staten Island King New Accused of Forgery.

(New York Tribune:) Erastus Wiman's name has been before the public for many years. He was deeply interested in the commercial union of Canada and the United States and the upbuilding of Staten Island. After the death of John W. Garrett, president of the Baltimore and Ohio Raliroad, he bent his energies toward enlisting Robert Garrett in the island as a gateway of the metropolis. When the Baltimore and Ohio management decided to utilize Staten Island for a part of its harbor facilities, Mr. Wiman thought his rosy dreams for Staten Island were soon to be realized. He invested largely in the Staten Island Rapid-transit Raliroad and the ferry line to New York, and to his efforts was due the "boom" given St. George as a pleasure resort. Buffalo Eill at Erastina and "The Fall of Babylon" at St. George were some of his ventures. Mr. Wiman's hopes for Staten Island have not yet been fulfilled, as the Baltimore and Ohio still finds it more prodiable to use the line of the New Jersey Central to Jersey. City.

Mr. Wiman at one time was largely interested in the Canadian telegraph line, which passed under Western Union control. He was intimate with Jay Gould and the director's of the Western Union Telegraph Company. He was interested in various schemes and inventions, and his office at No. 1 Broadway was full of queer-looking machines and models. He was also noted for his freely-offered and cheerful advice to young men, by which he pointed out the road to fortune" thorugh if rugality and industry.

It is said that he started the first mercantile agency in this city. Under the same firm name—Dun, Wiman & Co.—it became well known in this country and Canada. It was this enterprise that brought him to the United States. In last April he transferred all his Staten Island property to David Bennett King as trustee for the benefit of his creditors. In May he made a general assignment for the benefit of his creditors.

James W. Wilson, editor of the Farm, Field and Fireside, a Chicago journal devoted to agricultural interests, was a visitor at the Chamber of Commerce yesterday. His paper is one of the largest of its kind in the United States, and has a wide circulation in the Middle and Northwestern States. Mr. Wilson says that for a long time they received a large number of inquirles regarding Southern California from the farmers of his section. They expressed much discontent at the severe climate and the many other difficulties with which they had to contend, and wished to better themselves. Since the close of the World's Fair these have increased to such an extent that it was decided to give them a general answer. Accordingly, a prosposition was made to the effect that those desiring to immigrate should put $1000 each into a pool to buy some good farming land in this section. Over 150 answers were received, all pledging themselves to subscribe the required amount. They are well-to-do-people, who will bring their families with them. Some desired to go South, but the large majority voted unanimously for Southern California. Mr. Wilson was selected as the representative to visit this section and negotiate for satisfactory land. They will engage in general farming and but little attention will be paid to Norticulture.

Mr. Wilson will remain here for some ime, during which he will visit the principal localities of the section, for the purpose of getting some land at reasonable rates. He states that if the present venture is a success it will be simply the beginning of a vast immigration to Southern California.
